6 Dead Or Missing In Flood At Fort Worth

TY SURROUNDED ON THREE SIDES BY WATER; PROPERTY LOSS MILLION

Electric Service Crippled; Trains Delayed and Water Supply Cut Off; Rescue Parties

Hunt for Dead and Missing

Fort Worth, Texas, April 26. (By the Associated Press)—Forty-six persons are dead or missing in the Trinity flood here, a revised list indicates.

Fort Worth today was surrounded on three sides by a water extending over an area estimated at 25 to 20 miles. The property damage will be about one million according to estimates today.

Gradually emerging from the flood waters, Fort Worth took up the task of re-establishing community life.

Sharp recession of the flood waters this morning relieved danger of additional loss of life. More than two inches of fall last night brought the total rainfall here to 10.59 during the past 36 hours. The river stage yesterday morning 8.7 feet a drop of nearly six feet from yesterday's maximum. Commissioner Gilvin announced that the city will water service restored by tonight.

Bodies Not Recovered

Most of the victims have not recovered and for this reason many did not die in the flood.

Not an ordinary case. The head contains an ear phone that's hidden in the stick as slick as these new-fangled hootch containers. Maybe that's what gave Maximilian Well, the inventor, the idea.

PUBLISHERS TO STAND AGAINST 44 HOUR WEEK

Advertising Rates Can-Not Come Down, President Says

New York, April 26.—Planning the full weight of the American Newspaper Publishers association against any effort to introduce the 44-hour week in newspaper shops and declaring that there can not be any reduction in newspaper advertising or subscription rates at this time, T. H. Williams, president of the publishers' press and president of the association, called on the members of the council of the news media yesterday to defend the newspaper of the country and get behind the apprenticeship reform movement in order to prevent a shortage of skilled help in newspaper plants.

Calling attention to the achievements of President Harding himself as publisher, Mr. Williams urged his hearers to follow the example of their leader in opposing the 44-hour week in the interests of war to promote international cooperation, for the publisher to scrap the jealousies and animosities that in their ultimate results are harmful not only to those who are their neighbors but to those who are their enemies.

He said, "It is to be laid in the keeping of course of war to promote international cooperation, for the publisher to scrap the jealousies and animosities that in their ultimate results are harmful not only to those who are their neighbors but to those who are their enemies."

Mr. Williams declared that while he favors the 44-hour week, he has been unable to do so in view of the fact that it would be a violation of the spirit of the news media.
